

Tâioânjī pán
=bô liânjīhû (hyphen) ê
Péhōejī

Sóí, tng in pàihóng soa<sup>n</sup> lâi goânchūbîn kàuhōe ê sī, in ài chin sèjī.
M̄nā ài chùi tōngbút, mā ài chimchiok phahláh ê. Inūi in khólêng ē hông tòngchò tōngbút áh sī tékjîn, soah hō goânchūbîn tùi i khuichhèng.

Hókachài, inūi ū līsapék kah kītha Sinlâu Pē<sup>n</sup>ī<sup>n</sup> ê iseng tàu chiàukò. Sòng bóksu chiâ<sup>n</sup> kín tòh hoehòk kiānkhong, koh ētàng chìnghêng soankàu ê sūkang.

So when they visited the churches in the Taiwanese indigenous villages in the mountains, they had to be very careful.
Besides the wild animals, they had to watch out for the hunters because they might accidentally shoot them when hunting in the dark or mistake them for enemies.

Luckily, with Elizabeth and the help of other doctors in Sin-Lau Hospital, Rev.
Ferguson recovered quickly and immediately returned to his missionary work.